

subspace appearance models

Idea: Images are not random, especially those of an object, or similar objects, under different viewing conditions.

Rather, than storing every image, we might try to represent the images more effectively, e.g., in a lower dimensional subspace.